TO THEE
OUR ALMA MATER

In whose sheltering arms and memory-filled corridors and rooms we were introduced into the realms of knowledge, we dedicate this book of memoirs; for thou art indeed the benefactress of our success in life.

FOREWORD

We have endeavored to portray the school in all its phases, its sophistication, its work and its play.

It is our earnest desire that this book in years to come may bring back afresh to us the joyous memories of our high school days.

CLASS HISTORY

On a bright sunny September morning in 1934 twenty-four eager children trotted to school to begin their long journey toward graduation. These beginners were: Fannie Beglau, Wilber Klein, Lorraine Bollinger, Loretta Klipfel, Walter Breitling, Clara Meske, Mercedes Eisenbeis, Justus George, Constance Gulliford, Amanda Harter, Arlene Hein, Lloyd Kempf, Bernice Klein, Harold Klein, Violet Reile, Floyd Schock, Sally Wishek, Colin Stepper, Ronald Stube, Melvin Walz, Olga Dobler, Milton Schaeffer.

Miss Hendra Klabo was our instructor. Our picnic was held at Andy Anderson's grove.

In the second grade Miss Leona Hildenbrand was our teacher. Because of unfavorable weather the picnic was held in the classroom.

The third grade found us in the new schoolhouse. Our classroom was so much larger that we almost felt lost. Miss Mildred Drews was our instructor.

Miss Wanda Carlson began teaching the fourth year but accepted a position in Bismarck, so Miss Anne Stangler took her place and remained our teacher throughout the fifth grade. Mr. Mansager began a tonette band which performed on several occasions.

Miss Schulz was our sixth grade teacher. She began a Junior Chorus. Geography scrapbooks with fancy covers were made. Our picnic proved to be an experience for all of us when a car got stuck in quick sand. The Senior class was having a picnic nearby and came to the rescue.

Seventh grade our picnic was held at Beaver Lake. Almost all of the students went wading too deep and spent most of their time on the roof of a cottage drying their clothes.

Eighth grade we had several large parties during the year. It seemed much easier than former grades because this year we had only four subjects. The graduation speaker was Governor Moses.

HIGH SCHOOL

Our first year in high school began with an enrollment of 66 members. After initiation everyone felt much older because then we were officially members of the high school. In the spring we devoted many class periods to hikes, but were very much disappointed when rainy weather prevented our class picnic.

Membership was decreased to 56 in our Sophomore year. This year the school put on a carnival - a practice which is still continued. The annual picnic was held at Hoskins. Because of the fine weather, many students went swimming and acquired a sun tan.

The Junior year began with 44 members. Genevieve Hilscher and Iver Walker joined our class. The Junior-Senior banquet was held on May 18. The play, "The Valley of Ghosts," directed by Mrs. Mabel Anthony, was given April 6.

As we began the last lap of our journey there were 42 Seniors on deck. Irene Schauer left our class and moved to California. The play, "Campus Quarentine," under the direction of Mrs. Reinhold Delzer, was presented January 31, May 3 and 4 the Seniors went to Aberdeen, South Dakota for skip day. On our return we spent a pleasant evening at a party the Ellendale Normal gave for all the Senior classes of the surrounding schools.

Baccalaureate services were held May 26 with Reverend Vetter officiating. Commencement took place May 29, Mr. A. C. Van Wyk, Superintendent of Bismarck Schools, was the speaker.

These are the Foundation Members of the Class of '46 of the Ashley high school who have completed twelve years of sharing together classes, extra-curricular activities, school joys and sorrows. They have welcomed many into their comradeship only to see them drop off and they have continued their union which has created memories that shall not soon be forgotten.

FAREWELL

Congratulations! Seniors, and may you continue to form friendships which shall be as pleasant and lasting as the ones you have here concurred and you shall have subscribed to success.

CLASS WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Gertie Martz, bequeath my unique jitterbugging technique to Leona Opp. Be sure to make use of it Leona.

I, Jeannette Baumann, do bequeath my ability to get along with the male population of this institution to LuElla Hoffman. Let me warn you boys, look out.

We, Genievieve Hilscher, and Donald Fischer will our love for studying to Dorothy Joachim. May you enjoy it as much as we do.

We, Inez Schumacher and Violet Nitschke leave our ability to drive a car to Robert Mensing. You know, it takes a good driver to run your car.

I, Olga Dobler leave my tact with teachers to Hilda Geohring. See how long you can stay in school with it.

We, Pearl Bertsch and Arlene Hein, leave our ability to play the piano to Corrine Wolf. With all this added Miss Olson may gain another accompanist next year.

I, Ruby Nies, leave my pleasant personality to Vlasta Mayer. With this you should really entrance the male population of this community.

I, Bernice Klein, bequeath my quiet ways to Irene Gieze. This will really surprise the teachers.

We, Gladys Nitschke and Ruth Kessel, will our neatness to the entire junior class. This combined with your own should make the senior assembly very attractive next year.

I, Violet Speidel, bequeath my good looks to any person who can best use it.

I, Milton Schauer, leave my beautiful, black wavy hair to Robert (Snowball) Mensing. With this and your car you should really go places.

I, Helmuth Huber, give my masculine physique to any junior boy who may need it.

I, Sylvia George, give my prettiest dress to Sally Maier. This added to your own will really put Melvin on his heels.

I, Clarence Bendewald leave my clowning ability to the future senior class and teachers.

I, LeRoy Dockter, bequeath my bashfulness to Eileen Hoffman. May it aid you to keep away Zeeland boys.

We, LaVerna Funk and Helen Strobel, give our girlish figures to Violet Strobel, who may want to attract some of the boys with it.

We, Irene Krause and Amanda Harter, leave all the slightly used gum under the seat in the third row of the senior classroom to whoever sits there next year. We didn't make too much use of it so you try to do better.

I, Fannie Beglau, do bequeath my ability to speak loud enough so the teachers can understand, to all coming unfortunates.

I, Walter Breitling, leave my ability to debate to Clarence Klipfel. May you start as many arguments in class as I did.

I, LeRoy Schauer, bequeath my secret passion for a certain freshman to Lawrence Hoffman. Well Lawrence, now you can make use of your car.

To Mr. Roth goes this beautiful picture of a pair of roller skates. You may order them to save steps when gathering the list of absentees. They will only cost you 98 cents for the class will furnish the 2 cents tax.

To Miss Olson goes this glorious scented perfume direct from "A Night in Hong Kong." This should really make you the center of attraction.

I, Lloyd Bertsch, give my ability to tell jokes to all the junior boys. May it provide your class with as many laughs as it has us.

I, Loretta Schauer, will my lovely blonde hair to LaVina Kempf.

I, Sharon Hogenson, leave my ability to write notes and get by with it, to Loretta Strobel. With this you won't have to do any talking.

I, Floyd Schock, will my height to Myron Rau, with this added to your own, you should make an outstanding football player.

We, Loretta Klipfel, and Evelyn Miller, will our singing ability to Vivian Walz, with this added to your own, you should hit broadway.

I, Annetta Maier, will my giggle to Alvera Jenner, may you use it as often as I do.

I, Melvin Baumann, will this, "True Experience," to Tennis Knoblich, may it bring you as much happiness as it has me.

I, Iver Walker, leave my girl troubles to all the junior boys, may you find a better solution for them than I have.

We, Viola Sayler and Violet Zimmerman, do bequeath our quiet little voices to Edrie Henne. May you make good use of this gift.

I, Genevieve Retzer, give my chubbiness to Norma Eisenbies. Take care of it Norma; you know fat is precious.

I, Melvyn Walz, will my debts to Connie Drey. They include a five-cent charge slip for a sucker and an IOU note to Clarence Klipfel, which states: IOU one kick in the pants before May 30. You had better take care of this, Connie.

To Lila Kappas, our faithful office girl, goes this sharp everlasting pencil. If you don't lose it, it should last you for nine months.

To Miss Measer we give this stick of gum so she can keep company with the rest of the seniors in the 11'o'clock study period.

To Mr. Nehrenberg goes this squirt gun to awaken the students school spirit. If you use cold water that should help.

We, the Senior Class of 1948, wish to present this comic book to Mr. Robinson. This should furnish plenty of smiles for your future classes.

To Mrs. Delzer we will this muffler so she won't have to disturb other classes when trying to Keep Order in the senior assembly.

As a token from the senior class we present this teaspoon of sugar to Miss Angeline Kraft. It will keep you your own sweet self; and keep you gentle and beautiful.

We present this hair ribbon to Miss Polries with our compliments hoping this will enhance the beauty of your hair and hoping this will give some beauty hints to the high school girls.

We are sure that Mr. Stow will appreciate this rattle from the senior class. With this he can amuse his child during his leisure time.

CLASS PROPHECY

Ever suspect that I have dreams? Well, yes I have--in fact I am rather great at them; but the one I had last night beat them all--it was rather amusing (in its way); on the other hand--well, you be your own judge.

It all began in this way; as every senior, I have had but one ambition in the recent past, which you all know is graduation. Even if my conscious mind forgot to let me think beyond that week, my subconscious mind has taken me to the Who's, What's and Where's of the Class of '46 in about the year 1960. What a world I saw! I wish more of you could have had the pleasure of seeing it. Since you didn't, I will tell you of it.

The greatest movie center of the midwest, Ashley, was a busy scene with the activities of our great celebrity Helmuth Huber's 'opening night' for his first successful movie entitled "The Wild Calls". Without my telling you so, you must know that it was a good picture, for the leading man was our dashing Floyd Schock, not only a great actor of his day, but also a notable man of the city of Ashley for he owned half of it. Acting opposite Mr. Schock was Miss Priscella Hogen. We formerly knew her as Sharon Hogenson.

The movie deal was a good subject but dreams are dreams and they head from one thing to another.

I am sure I shivered in my sleep when I heard a grinding sound zooming from an upper story apartment window on Hall Street. Upon inspection I found that it was only our famous dentist, Donald Fisher. His victim was Pearl Bertsch. He was trying to fill her false teeth.

After conversing with Mrs. Wilbert Sayler, the former Gertrude Martz, who was now Dentist Fisher's part-time assistant. I learned that Jeanette Baumann was now manager of a small and orderly cafe on the next block. Though profits were very small Jeanette enjoyed her work for she could have all she wanted to eat and dating was her one and only hobby.

Long Lake is a cute little place not very far from here but last night I saw it as a very important metropolitan area, and in the heart of the city I saw within a spacious church Pastor Milton Schauer aglow with religious ardor. From carefully polished shoes to his well-groomed curling mustache Pastor Schauer was swaying the congregation with his thrilling experiences. The Pastor was particularly aroused by the recent divorce scandal of Irene Krause, and the wedding bells again tolling for her.

The Schauers seemed to have succumbed to the art of religion for in my dream I saw LeRoy Schauer performing the baptismal ceremonies in St. Paul's Church at Austin, Minnesota, from where his pretty young wife stemmed. Loretta Schauer was a successful missionary in Hawaii lecturing to a young group of fuzzy haired natives--she loved them all!

Olga Dobler, Evelyn Miller, Gladys Nitschke, and Violet Zimmerman call themselves the "Cackling Gal Incorporated" for they have established themselves in Danzig, North Dakota. They specialize in White Leghorns and Rhode Island Reds.

Iver Walker and Walter Breitling have taken up farming. Iver has been fairly successful; but Walter believes in taking one day of the week off, rain or shine, to argue with the county agent Fannie Beglau, on better methods of farming, mostly for the sake of his fondness for arguing, so he hasn't been quite so successful as Iver.

Even though teachers have made us all rather edgy in the past, and we have all vowed never to teach, I saw last night-plain as daylight-Genevieve Hilscher, her pretty dark hair graying at the temples, sitting before the huge senior class of 1960. The class was noisy, but Genevieve had decided to say no more for she said to herself, "Seniors are Seniors".

And then there is our shy and sensible Viola Sayler--Viola don't you dare land where I saw you-You were a health teacher in Chicago, which was all right but when you were lecturing to your class you forgot yourself and began to chew gum unattractively and finally lit up a cigarette and told the class about the latest movie.

Talking about schools I might tell you about Bernice Klein who is still at Dakota Hall in Ellendale. No don't draw conclusions too fast; she's not going to school anymore but is the Dean of Women there.

In Washington D.C., the Secretary of Agriculture, Melvin Baumann gives orders to his attractive stenographer LaVerna Funk, who is prudently sharing her apartment with two rather oversized and decidedly formidable lady friends and in the background there is a tall broadshouldered, handsome figure to guide her--yes, LaVerna is rather old, but she has always said she would marry someone young.

LeRoy Dockter has become photographer for the society page in Melvyn Walz's "Daily Ashley Sun", which is the leading newspaper of the city. By the way-LeRoy has only girls over thirty in his column because of his keen fondne'ss for women.

Talk about women I received a letter from Pfc. Genevieve Retzer who says she likes her work very much. She is a WAC in the Army Sky Anchor's Aweigh.

In the suburbs of Ashley I saw Sylvia George surrounded by at least seven little blonds, but after further inquiries I was informed that she had established a home for homeless little girls because she has always had a soft spot for children.

I hear a murmur, and gradually in my dream I see a group of women discussing the problems of "Today's Children" over their tea and crackers. Undoubtedly it's a Women's Club, judging from the fine quality of their voices as they sang after their discussion. Their voices have developed some--but whose wouldn't, after singing all the lullabys, all the school songs, and all the latest hits that their teen-age children are singing. Among this group were: Violet Spiedel, Ruth Kessel, Helen Strobel, Amanda Harter, and Inez Schumacker.

Aaron Haas is a prize farmer partly because his wife, the former Loretta Klipfel, is his able assistant. Besides helping her husband on the farm, Loretta has a fine stock of rabbits which she raises and keeps for old time memories sake.

Then there is Arlene Hein, great pianist of the day, who has traveled both inland and abroad and is now coming to Ashley for a few numbers she wishes to do for producer Helmuth Huber. Miss Hein's friend, Ruby Nies, was at the time a singer and dancer in a swank New York night club practically engaged to her boss.

Then again there was music in my dream and I came upon Howard Wolf, who was Paupernicked (old time music) director. Poor Howard had no co-operation whatsoever from his band members.

Annetta Maier, the violinist, was only playing for her own ears when she was practicing "I Love You Truly". Violet Nitschke was dreamily playing "I Can't Begin to Tell You" assisted by the rattling snare drums of Clarence Benderwald. What music! and then a bang and in came Lloyd Bertsch with his drum and Boogie Woogie!! Enjoying the music I glided around in my bed, and suddenly--THE DREAM WAS ENDED!!

CLASS SONG
(Tune of "Pagan Love Song")

Soon we'll leave our classmates
So we'll say farewell,
But our Alma Mater
Will ever be the Best,
But our country's calling
To it we belong,
And we want to serve it
So Classmates, Farewell!

CLASS POEM

We have to leave our days of school and fun,
And it makes us feel a little sad,
But we know our work here is done,
When remembering the good times we've had
And all the hours we have toiled away
It makes us wish that we could stay.

But the time has come to say goodbye
To school days, teachers, and classmates.
But there's no need to heave a sigh
For now we all begin new trades.
And throughout life's weary way
We'll meet again some day.

Now is the time to begin our lives anew
For we know our mission here is done,
So to teachers and classmates we bid adieu.
New work shall begin with the rising sun,
It now makes us all feel a little blue
Because we have to say, "Farewell to You".

CAN YOU IMAGINE???

Can you imagine. . . . .

Shorty ignoring the freshman girls?
Loretta K. not going steady?
Arlene H. without Ruby?
Helmuth H. not in a rush?
Walter B. not looking for an argument?

Olson not taking advantage of the nice evenings?

ODDS & ENDS ! ! !

FAREWELL

We the senior class of 1946 deem it our duty, being about to pass into the Great Beyond, to bid you a fond farewell.

We have fed upon history, physics, chemistry, algebra, geometry, English, bookkeeping, psychology, biology, and other mental foods until we have highly developed cases of information. All they can do for us is to let us graduate.

We are entering into a war torn world where men have suffered and survived, where now they are faced with many great problems, some of which we will be part and try to help solve. But no matter where we go or what our destiny, we shall always cherish our many memories of our high school days, where we have had our taste of glory and defeat of good times.

We can not, and have no right to say what you, our underclassmates, can or cannot do.

To the juniors we say: Carry on and make the best of your high school days and to all classes: work together to achieve one end --- a bigger and better school.
